

Earth

~ Standard building material in 2050 ~

Earth is abundant natural building material that exists everywhere in the world. It is also a perfectly recyclable and ecological material. We hope to establish a cycle of architectural production that focuses on regional materials and environmental preservation.

